Dear Mr. Moles:

Christmas is a good time to recall our particular blessings, and I feel that you rank high on our list. What you have done for Seth and Bill, as well as the other boys of the school, is not half appreciated, I know. The spirit which has entered into all their sports has been wonderful. Never having taken part in such things myself, it has been a revelation to me to see what it can all amount to in the way of good fellowship and experience in the finest kind of cooperative living. And the credit for the success belongs to you. Several of the long athletic trips, the visit to Cornell, the last football game, and the trip last Saturday for Christmas trees are a few of the high spots.

I just want you to know that we do appreciate what you have done and wish there were ways we could return the many favors.

Sincerely
Edward W. Bridge
