Park School Quintet Opens Season Tomorrow

Two starters from last year—5-foot-10 inch Tim Finnell and 5-11 Jerry Jacobstein—plus the tallest players in the school's history, 6-4 sophomore Mike Steffens, will carry the banner of the quintet as the Park School opens a 15-game season tomorrow at 3 against an alumni team on the Snyder court.

Jacobstein, a junior, was the third highest scorer for last year's entry which tied for second place in the Conference of Upstate Private Schools. Finnell, now a senior, was No. 4 in the scoring parade.

Senior Charles Little, 6-1, and junior Bernie Mandlauer, 5-8, are the only other seniors on the 12-man squad. Both were varsity reserves a year ago.

Mending the platoon of eight sophomores along with Steffens is 5-foot-5 Jim Hollands, the JV scoring leader a year ago. Other highly regarded sophomores are Harry Rogerson, 5-7, and Harry Epstein, 5-3. Rogerson was third in JV scoring a year ago, while Epstein was fourth and Steffens second.

Steffens has Double Duty.

Steffens, according to head coach and athletic director Horlyk Madsen, is the key. "He's our only really big man—in fact the biggest we've ever had. With our lack of all-around size he'll have to go through both as a scorer and a rebounder if we're to finish better than a year ago."

Madsen also is casting a hopeful eye at the four remaining sophomores—6-foot Larry Burns, Pete Burns, 5-8, Marty Kranitz, 5-11, and Rob Maunz, 5-7.

"If these boys come through along with Steffens we might go farther than a tough schedule gives us to expect."

Park Defeats Alumni, 34-25

Sophomore Jim Hollands and senior Tim Finnell, a pair of hustling guards, paced the Park School varsity basketball team to an opening day 34-25 victory over the Alumni yesterday on the school's home court in Snyder.

Hollands pumped 10 points on 4 field goals and 3 free throws, while Finnell connected on 4 goals and 23 partly tosses. Bob Wilson, now a junior at Northwestern, led the Alumni with 10.

Park trailed by a point, 8-7, after the first eight minutes but outshot the Alumni, 15-2, in the second period to go ahead to stay.
