His co-captain and catcher Dave Mols hit a clutch triple in the third to score the first 2 runs and he in turn scampered home on Tim Fitzgerald's single. In the 5th, Cox walked and stole second and scored on another Fitzgerald single. The opposing pitcher Rick Peck was strong off the mound as he struck out 16 but he gave up the 5 hits most of which came in key spots to enable Park to assume a 1-2 record while Harley dropped to 2-2 for the season. Park School Girls Participate In Mandatory Sports Program

By CHARLEY BAILEY

THERE IS A GROWING trend in scholastic sports to integrate girls into previously all-male competitions.

For a local example, a Bennett High Girl earned a place on the school's Syracuse Cup swimming team and splashed to All-High status.

And for another local example, two girls have helped build Lafayette High into a powerhouse in competition for the Dr. Bapst Tennis trophy.

However, there is at least one staunch holdout against this trend in area scholastic sports. That is the Park School in Snyder. There, the girls have their organized leagues, the boys have theirs, and never the twain shall meet.

AT LEAST, THAT IS the current attitude of the school's athletic director, Herb Mols. Herb's daughter, by the way, is coach of the girls' spring track team, and the girls' soccer team in the fall.

"We feel obligated to build comprehensive programs for both the boys and the girls," Mols said recently on a day typical of campus activity. Typical because many branches of sports were being indulged in.

"We see no need and no reason for moving the girls into the previously all-male sports. The girls have plenty of competition in their activities, and the boys likewise in theirs."

A spot check of some of the young ladies busy in track and field and softball that day revealed no strong feelings for or against the school's attitude.

TYPICAL OF THE COMMENTS on the situation was one from Cheryl Meyer, an 11th grade student who resides at 419 Burroughs Dr., Snyder. Miss Meyer plays on the softball team, is a sprinter and hurdler on the track team, and is active also in figure skating.

"Oh, it might be fun to be on a boys' team," she said. "But to me that is not too important. Besides, I don't fancy the idea of a girl possibly beating out a boy for a place on his team when the girl has a team of her own to play on."

Ca'hy Pearce, a 12th grader, allowed that girls playing on heretofore all-boys' teams would be all right, I guess. I don't think it would present too much of a problem. But the need for such integration is not as necessary at Park as it might be in public schools that don't have such extensive programs for girls."

MISS PEARCE, INCIDENTALLY, will matriculate to Vermont College next fall where she will major in liberal arts. And why did she choose Vermont College?

"Well, it is a fine school academically, to start with," she said. "It's more or less in the country, and I like the country. And I was attracted also by its fine sports program." Vermont is an all-girl school, but is soon to go co-educational.

Versatility seems to be a way of life with the Park Club girls in their sports endeavors. It is mandatory for the girls, as well as the boys, to participate in the sports program, and all seem to thrive through this rule.

AS NOTED, Miss Meyer is active in at least three sports. Miss Pearce goes in for skiing, lacrosse, field hockey and track. Another young lad on the softball diamond field, Camie Woodard, noted that she enjoyed swimming, as well as softball and track.

Why swimming? "Keeps you slim and trim and beautiful," she answered. "Besides, there are fewer calories in swimming." Calories in swimming? A put-on was detected by the reporter. "Oh, Sammie's on a diet," Pat Sheehan, the softball coach,

The game went to the 10th inning when Allendale scored in the top on a hit batter and a double to take a 3-2 lead.
